Public Meeting

Join us for a public meeting on the UNM/CNM/Sunport Study!

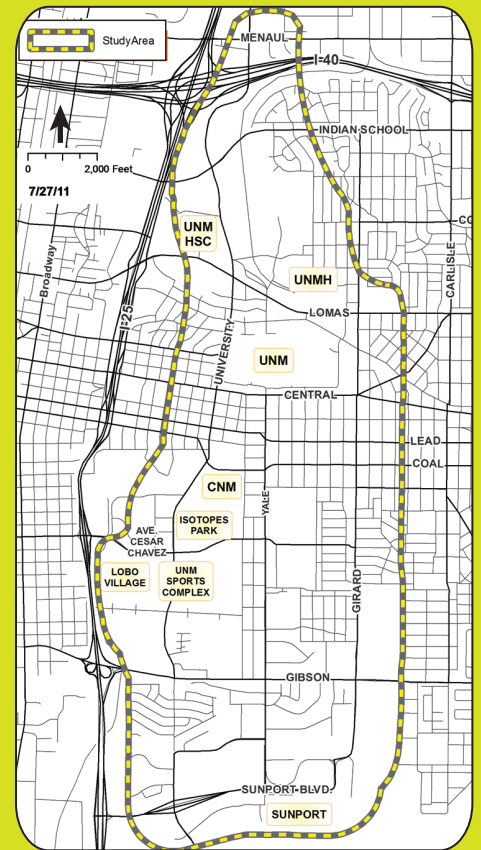

The meeting will include an overview of the study and an introduction to the consultant and study teams, followed by an open house to gather your thoughts and feedback on your travel experiences within and to the area.

The goal of this study is to identify a transit system that will improve accessibility to and mobility within the area that best meets the current and future travel needs. This study will also identify features of land use, parking, housing, and business activities that can support both the transit system and the interests of the residents, institutions, businesses, and visitors to the area.

When: Monday June 25th, 2012
Where: Heights Community Center Dance Hall (823 Buena Vista Drive SE) from 6pm to 8pm

Why study the University of New Mexico / Central New Mexico Community College / International Sunport Area?

- It is the largest activity center in the region with a university, a community college, UNM Hospital and Health Sciences Center, and the Albuquerque International Sunport.
- The area attracts approximately 74,000 employees and students a day, with an additional one million annual healthcare patient visits.
- A large amount of development is underway or planned in the area — including off-campus housing, expansion of the Health Sciences Center, and potential mixed use and commercial development.
- The area is already served by the very successful Rapid Ride bus lines and many people commute by walking, carpooling, and bicycling, however; North-South transit connections linking important destinations can be improved upon.
